INJURIES FATAL TO SEYMOUR MAN

Claude Purkhiser, Well Known Railroad Man, Hurt in Accident, Expires Sunday Noon.

EXEMPLARY YOUNG MAN

Funeral Service Will Be Held From Central Christian Church at 3 O'clock Tuesday Afternoon.

Injuries sustained in an accident at Deputy Saturday proved fatal to J. Claude Purkhiser, well known Baltimore & Ohio railroad brakeman, his death having occurred at the Schneck Memorial Hospital at 12:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. While it was generally known to his many friends that the injuries were serious, some hope was given that they would not prove fatal and the announcement of Mr. Purkhiser's death came as a shock. Mr. Purkhiser was injured while at work at the Deputy station Saturday morning at 7:55 when he was crushed between two freight cars. Besides having his hips and legs crushed he was injured internally. Following the accident he was rushed to the hospital in this city, arriving one hour later. Every effort was put forth to save his life but with no avail.

J. Claude Purkhiser was born at Shoals, Ind., February 19, 1893. At the age of five years he came with his parents to this city where he resided the remainder of his life. He attended the Seymour public schools. He had been braking on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for a number of years, at which work he was employed Saturday when he sustained the injuries that resulted in his death.

The deceased was a member of the Central Christian church and was deeply interested in church work. He was also a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Seymour Lodge No. 207. Mr. Purkhiser was well known as a railroad engineer and enjoyed a large acquaintance with railroad employees on the Indiana division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

Besides a widow, the deceased is survived by two little daughters, Belma Ruth, age five, and Lorta May, age three, his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hulse, two brothers, Harry Purkhiser, of Cincinnati, and James Purkhiser, of this city, together with several other relatives and a host of friends. The deceased's father was killed in a railroad accident on the Baltimore & Ohio at Montgomery, Ind., April 4, 1903, while switching cars on the siding there.

The funeral service will be held from the Central Christian church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock under the auspices of the local Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. Interment at Riverview cemetery.

HAMILTON TOWNSHIP WOMAN IS INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Mrs. Andrew Rust Has Right Leg Broken When Struck by Automobile Late Saturday Afternoon.

Mrs. Andrew Rust, of Hamilton township, suffered a fracture of her right leg late Saturday afternoon when she was struck by an automobile driven by William Burgett employed at the Cooper garage. The accident happened at the corner of St. Louis avenue and Chestnut street. Mrs. Rust was going north on Chestnut and Mr. Burgett was driving west on the avenue.

Mrs. Rust was taken to Dr. O. G. Osterman's office and was later removed to the Schneck Memorial hospital after it was discovered that her leg was broken. She is reported to be resting as well as could be expected. The injured woman is the wife of Andrew Rust, well known Hamilton township farmer.

FOUR FUNDS TO GO TO NEW TOWNSHIP

Judge Cox Rules for Trustee McKain in Pershing—Salt Creek Division Fight.

WRIT OF MANDATE TO AUDITOR

Pershing Township to Receive fifty-two Percent of the Money of the Combined Unit.

Official recognition of Pershing township as a political unit in Jackson county, was made today by James A. Cox, judge of the Jackson circuit court, when he decided the suit filed by William T. McKain, trustee of Pershing township, against Albert Luedtke, auditor, and Henry Alberring, treasurer, in favor of the plaintiff. The case originated when Trustee McKain made a demand upon the county auditor for certain funds which he said belonged to his township. The auditor refused to issue the warrants on the ground that the division had not been finally settled. The case was recently argued here.

Judge Cox held that Pershing township is entitled to fifty-two percent of four funds namely, township fund, tuition fund, school bond fund and road tax fund. The division of the township's finance was made on the basis of appraised value of property and the number of school

DR. FRED HELLER DIES SUDDENLY

Prominent Brownstown Physician Falls Dead in Alley While Enroute to a Garage.

SUFFERS HEART ATTACK

Deceased Had Been Practicing at the County Seat For the Past Twenty Years.

Dr. Fred Heller, a prominent Brownstown physician, died very suddenly at 8:15 this morning following a sudden attack of heart trouble. The deceased was one of the best known physicians in the county and the announcement of his death came as a shock to his large circle of friends as it was generally believed that he was enjoying good health.

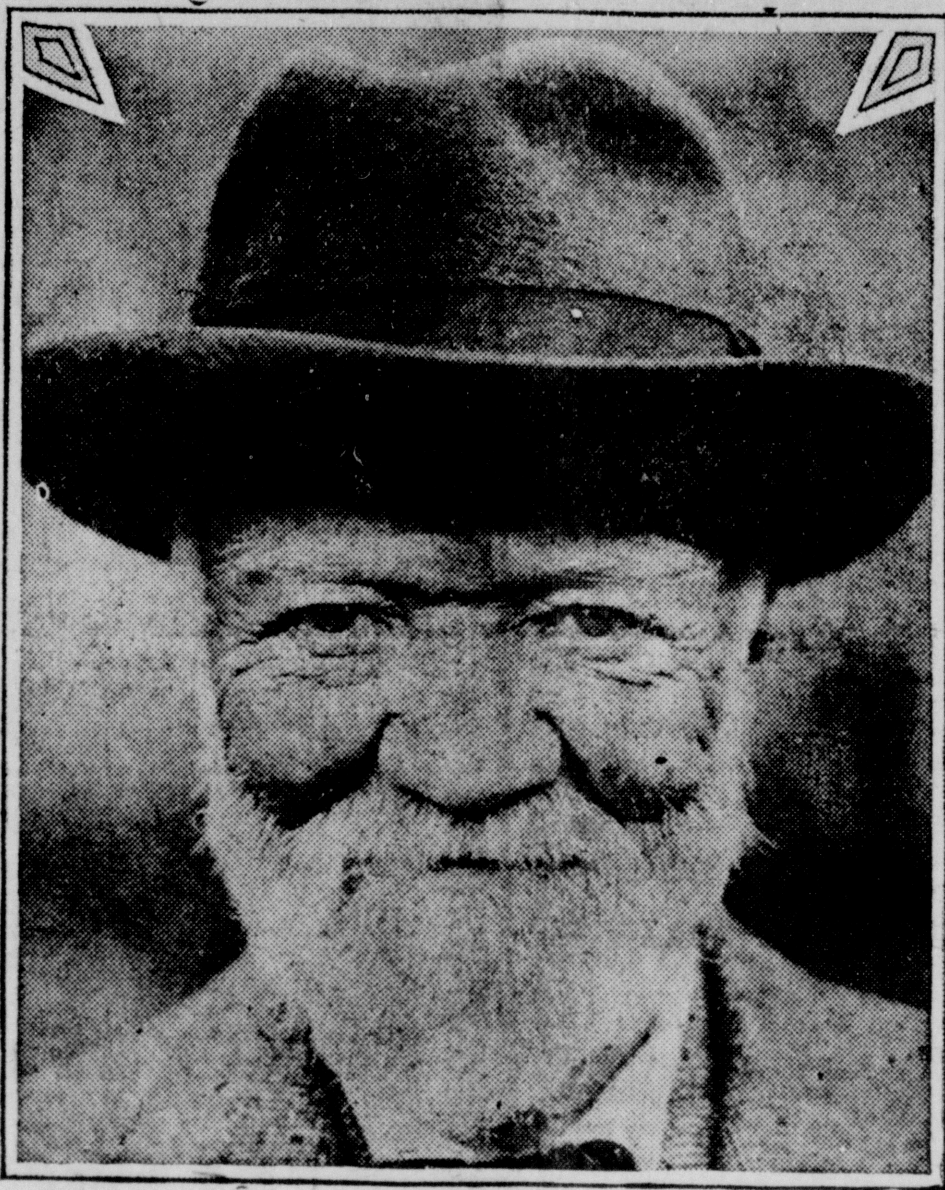

Dr. Heller left his home about 8 o'clock this morning to go to his private garage a short distance away to get his car as he had arranged to bring a patient to the Schneck Memorial Hospital in this city for treatment. After arriving there he was unable to start his car and after several attempts gave it up and started through an alley to the McOsker garage to get a mechanic to see what the trouble was. He had only gone a short distance from his own garage when he fell to the ground, death following instantly. Persons seeing the physician fall and not knowing who it was, rushed to a phone and called his home telling his wife that a man had fainted in the alley. She tried to locate her husband and was horror-stricken when a few minutes after she was notified that he had died very suddenly.

Dr. Heller was apparently in good health when he awoke this morning about 7 o'clock. He ate a hearty breakfast and did not complain of feeling bad to members of his family. However, the physician had been suffering some with heart trouble for the past year.

The deceased has been practicing at Brownstown for the past twenty years and enjoyed a large practice there and in the surrounding community. He was united in marriage

THINK WILSON CAN HAVE THIRD TERM URGES LAYMEN TO LABOR FOR CHURCH

Some Local Democrats, However, Doubt if President Desires to Make Race Again.

MARSHALL BOOM STARTED

Indianapolis Star Carries Summary of Democratic Presidential Situation in State.

President Wilson is favored for a third term nomination by many Indiana democrats, according to a summary of the presidential situation in Indiana which is covered in the Indianapolis Star this morning. Last Monday the Star carried a summary of the Republican presidential situation, printing interviews from party leaders throughout the state. The Republicans who gave interviews to the Star last week were Dr. H. Lett, county chairman, Judge O. H. Montgomery and J. H. Andrews.

C. W. Burkart, democratic county chairman, Allen Swope, postmaster, Thomas M. Honan and E. P. Elsner were interviewed as to the democratic situation and their statements appeared this morning.

The Star finds that of the democratic leaders throughout Indiana who were interviewed, twenty-six favor Wilson, twenty-one were for William G. McAdoo while nineteen were for Vice-President Marshall. Seven indicated that Governor Cox

The Rev. L. T. Freeland Delivers Forceful Sermon at the Union Park Service.

ACTIVITIES MUST BE DEFINITE

Not Merely Words But Action Ought to Indicate Individual's Interest in God's Work.

In a forceful address delivered at the union service at Shields park Sunday night, the Rev. L. T. Freeland, superintendent of the Seymour district of the Indiana M. E. conference, made a strong appeal for the laymen of the church to labor for the advancement of God's Kingdom. "If I am not acquainted with a man, I cannot introduce him to a friend," said the minister. "Before you, a layman, can introduce God to your friends you must first be acquainted with Him."

The speaker said that he strongly advocated the "work or fight" order which was promulgated by the war department during the world conflict. He said that he thought the order should be enforced at all times and then declared that the church member ought to labor for the welfare of the church. He said that it is the duty of the layman to minister to the people in Christ's name and said that this should be done by actions as well as words. Co-oper-

ANDREW CARNEGIE, STEEL BARON, DEAD

World Greatest Philanthropist, Expires at Lenox, Mass., of Bronchial Pneumonia.

INCAPACITATED SINCE 1915

Benefactions Totaling $300,000,000 Made Little Impression upon His Great Fortune.

By United Press

Lenox, Mass., August 11—Andrew Carnegie, the world's greatest philanthropist, is dead.

The aged steel baron, whose benefactions totaled more than $300,000,000, succumbed to bronchial pneumonia at his summer home here this morning.

A statement issued by attending physicians merely said:

"Andrew Carnegie died shortly after 7 o'clock this morning."

Carnegie early in his career as a financial leader, expressed the firm conviction that it was "a sin to be rich." He sought through his countless gifts to avoid this self-designated sin. His income was so great, however, that it is believed he was able to make but little impression upon his wealth.

Carnegie had been incapacitated for several years. During the early part of the war, which came as a terrific shock to him, and shattered his ideals, he began to fail rapidly

SEYMOUR LIBRARY GIFT OF CARNEGIE

Gave $10,000 for Building When Citizens Provided Site at Cost of $3,000.

OPENED TO PUBLIC IN 1915

Members of Board Recently Took up Matter of Another Grant for Addition to Building.

Although some people have not been strongly in favor of the Carnegie foundation, the fact remains that Seymour probably would not have had its present beautiful library if it had not been for the assistance of Andrew Carnegie, who died this morning at Lenox, Mass. Mr. Carnegie gave $10,000 for the local building while the citizens purchased the lot valued at $3,000. While the building is not known as a Carnegie Library, it will stand for years as a monument to his name.

It was on December 3, 1914, that the Carnegie grant of $10,000 was made for the Seymour library. Within a short time after that date work on the building was started and the institution was opened to the public in 1915.

The library has been a growing institution, and while it was thought when it was built that it would answer the requirements of this locality for years to come, the building is now too small for the proper accommodation of the public. More floor and shelf space is needed badly and last spring the matter of another grant to erect an addition to the building was taken up with the foundation.

At that time it was explained that the Carnegie foundation was devoting all of its time and money to war work and that no money was available for libraries. Buildings which were in course of erection during the war were not completed until after the armistice was signed. Some cities and towns had made applications for grants before the war but these were withheld until after the first of this year. Scottsburg and North Vernon were among the towns in this part of the state which made application for grants for libraries.

STATE READY TO FIGHT PROFITEER

Harry E. Barnard, Former Food Administrator, Effecting New Organization.

TO BATTLE HIGH LIVING COST

Fair Price Figures Will be Published To Give Information to Consumers.

By United Press

Indianapolis, Aug. 11—Indiana was being mobilized again today, this time to battle the profiteer. The call for co-operation from the office of Harry Barnard, former federal food administrator for Indiana, today, in response to Attorney General Palmer's request for concerted action.

Representatives of all lines of merchandising, wholesale and retail, members of United States food clubs, labor and civic organizations all were asked to turn the gun of public sentiment upon merchants, charging excessive prices. Inspectors of weights and measures were directed to assist consumers in getting a square deal, both as to quality and quantity.

Fair price figures for commodities will be printed in daily newspapers to give accurate information to the consumer who has no way of investigating the origin of high prices, it was announced at Barnard's office today.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ANSWERS TWO CALLS SATURDAY NIGHT

Roof at Home of William Humphrey on East Second Street Damaged by Fire Sunday at Noon.

The Seymour fire department was called out twice Saturday night to extinguish small fires. About 10:20 the awning in front of the building occupied by the Peerless cleaning and pressing company on South Chestnut street, caught fire, caused by a spark from an engine on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The awning was destroyed. At 10:50 Saturday night the department was called to the Central garage where a cross wire leading from the batteries to the spotlight on P. Colabono's automobile had caught on fire. However, the fire had been extinguished before the firemen arrived and practically no damage was done.

The firemen were called to the home of William Humphrey at 506 East Second street, Sunday at 12:05 p. m. where a roof over a summer kitchen had been set on fire due to a defective flue. Damage to the extent of $50 was done before the firemen could extinguish the blaze.

Farmers' Association.

The Jackson County Farmers' Association will meet at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the court house at Brownstown. Louis Taylor, secretary of the State Farmers' Association, will speak. This is a general meeting and all farmers are urged to attend. A number of interesting subjects are to be discussed.

of Ohio, was their choice and four were for A. Mitchell Palmer and William J. Bryan.

Secretary Lansing, Secretary Daniels and Champ Clark were favored by three each while Secretary Baker, Samuel M. Ralston and J. Hamilton Lewis received one preference each.

The dispatch from this city follows:

Democrats in Jackson County say that while they have "plenty of presidential timber" in their party, they feel that it is a little early to discuss with any degree of certainty any individuals as probable candidates. The fact that President Wilson has not definitely announced his attitude towards a third term admittedly complicates the situation at this time, although some of the party leaders are inclined to believe that

ASSESSMENT EQUALIZATION BROUGHT BEFORE BOARD

Tax Commissioners Have Power to Charge Appraisement in Any County.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 11—Equalization of assessments on both real and personal property was to be considered by the state board of tax commissioners during this week, starting today.

Under the new tax law the state board is required to hear the pleas of any taxpayer, assessed locally, for reassessment. It may cause an increase or decrease in the assessments of real or personal property of any taxing unit.

These are the nature of cases being taken up this week and the following counties are to be heard today: Benton, Tipton, Clinton, Hancock, Rush, Delaware, Howard, Marion, Johnson and Shelby.

For the remainder of the week the schedule is as follows:

August 12—Posey, Gibson, Tippecanoe, Grant, Boone, Hamilton, Montgomery, Madison, Carroll, Fountain, Warren, Newton and Allen.

August 13—St. Joseph, Laporte, Vanderburgh, Wayne, Wabash, DeKalb, Henry, Huntington, Knox, Miami, Randolph, Cass, Adams, Bartholomew, Elkhart, Fayette and Floyd.

August 14—Fulton, Jasper, Jay, Kosciusko, LaGrange, Lake, Marshall, Ohio, Porter, Putnam, Sullivan, Vermillion, Vigo, Wells, White, Whitley and Blackford.

August 15—Clark, Clay, Daviess, Dearborn, Decatur, Greene, Jackson, Jefferson, Jennings, Lawrence, Monroe, Morgan, Noble, Owen, Parke, Pike and Pulaski.

August 16—Ripley, Spencer, Starke, Scott, Steuben, Switzerland, Union, Warrick, Washington, Dubois, Franklin, Harrison, Perry, Orange, Martin, Brown and Crawford.

Lake county city chambers of commerce have protested over the assessment. Gary is understood to be fairly well satisfied, but residents of East Chicago and the township in which it is located claim they have been over-assessed.

SEYMOUR RED SOX WIN FROM NORTH VERNON

Large Crowd in Attendance at Game Staged at New Ball Park Sunday Afternoon.

The Seymour Red Sox baseball club scored another victory Sunday defeating the North Vernon Athletic Champions in a game staged at the new ball park southwest of the Ahlbrand Carriage Factory. The score was 12 to 10 in Seymour's favor. The local club since being reorganized has not lost a game.

A large crowd was in attendance at the game Sunday, many rooters having accompanied the visiting team here to witness the game. Ben Taylor, pitcher for the local team, twirled a fine game. Taylor and Herrmann, the Seymour battery, have played fifteen games during this season and have only lost one, which is a splendid record.

The Seymour Red Sox will play a return game at North Vernon next Sunday.

URGES LAYMEN TO LABOR FOR CHURCH

ation will mean the advancement of the church, the minister said.

The importance of the layman having a definite work to perform was emphasized by the speaker. He declared that every church member should become a personal messenger of Christ, never losing an opportunity to speak of Him to a friend.

The service was largely attended and the auditorium was well filled. The Rev. Charles W. Whitman, pastor of the First M. E. church, presided at the service and introduced the speaker. The Rev. O. G. Misamore, pastor of the St. Paul Congregational church, offered the prayer and Mr. Whitman pronounced the benediction.

John A. Barnett led the congregational singing and music was furnished by Chauncey Goodwin, saxophone, and Reginald A. Brinklow, cornet.

John T. Abell, chief of police, is enjoying a vacation this week and during his absence Charles H. Wallace, sanitary inspector, is acting as chief in addition to his regular duties. The committee of the council in charge of the police department decided that the work of the day department is not heavy and can be looked after by one man, thus saving the expense of an extra policeman. When Officer Wallace takes his vacation, Chief of Police Abell will look after his work.

STEEL BARON, DEAD

and thereafter appeared very seldom in public. He was under almost constant care of physicians and from time to time it was reported that he was totally incapacitated.

At the time of his daughter's marriage recently to Ensign Miller, United States navy, it was reported that Carnegie was somewhat better. He attended the ceremony but was very feeble. Since that time he had been able to move with numerous attendants. Recently it was given out that he had enjoyed a successful fishing trip, but it was explained that his assistants were with him constantly, baiting his hook and assisting him every way.

Due to his enfeebled condition, Carnegie had taken practically no part in public affairs of any kind since 1915. Mrs. Carnegie, and John Poynton, a private secretary, were at his bedside when the end came. Carnegie had been seriously ill only since Friday. His condition became critical late yesterday, it was understood. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced, but it is believed the body will be sent to Pittsburg for burial.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Ford cars are important servants everywhere. They help the family enjoy life, bring the pleasures and advantages of the town within reach of the farmer and give practical service every day in country and town. They require a minimum of attention; any one can run the Ford and care for it, but it is better to have repairs and replacements taken care of by those who are familiar with the work and have the tools, the genuine materials, and skilled men to do the work promptly. We pledge Ford owners the reliable Ford service with real Ford parts and standard Ford prices.

LICENSE IS REFUSED

Would Not Authorize Marriage of a White Woman and Negro.

Comly Young, a negro of Columbia county and Mazie Shutt, a white woman of the same territory, spent two hours at Bloomsburg, Pa., trying to obtain a license to wed without securing the desired document.

The pair entered the office of Clerk of Court John Watson to obtain the license but Watson was out and his deputy, Shuman, refused to take the responsibility for such a license and told the two they could await Watson's return.

Tiring of waiting they visited the office of Justice of the Peace J. C. Utter, Jr., to enlist his aid, but Utter balked at the proposition.

Judge John C. Herman was then interviewed in his chambers with no better success. After making all the rounds the pair returned to Clerk Watson's office, who had returned. Watson told them he knew of no law in Pennsylvania which would permit the license. The couple then left declaring they would obtain the license in spite of law and convention.

SHOOTS BIG BEAR

Two Attacked Men Who Were Repairing an Auto in the Dark.

H. Floge and Harold Stark of Bayfield, Minn., making a trip to Cornicopia, a few nights ago about 8 p. m. were attacked by two large bears, while making repairs on their car. They were surprised by the growl of the male bear, who was standing on its hind legs not over 25 feet away. Mr. Floge immediately got a small automatic revolver which he always carries along in the car and by keeping cool succeeded in killing one bear, which weighed 300 pounds dressed and was thought to be about three years old.

The bear was shot about eleven miles out of Bayfield along the Cornicopia highway near the White farm. As there is a closed season on bear, Al Powell, the local game warden took the carcass, turning it over to the department at Madison to be properly disposed of.

TEAM OBEYED SIGN

There Was No Driver, but the Horses Stopped.

A team of horses owned by an Indianapolis wholesale grocery company decided to move without their driver. The horses, drawing a dray, started slowly. They were just behind the white line at Meridian and Maryland streets when the traffic man turned the semaphores. The "stop" sign faced the horses and they stopped. In a few minutes the traffic man turned the semaphore and the "go" sign faced the horses. They went. As the team stopped at the "stop" sign and started at the "go" sign, the traffic man failed to notice they were driverless. The horses slowly walked to the next corner and again the "stop" sign was faced the horses stopped.

GAVE LIFE FOR HONEY

Bear, Through Love of That Sweet, Came to Untimely End.

Because a 200-pound bear had a decided penchant for honey he came to an untimely end at the hands of Pierce Kitchen and William Keller of Benton, Pa. Kitchen made the discovery the other morning that during the night bruin had been around and overturned a number of his beehives and stolen the honey.

With gun loaded Kitchen kept watch one night, but failed to locate the bear. Morning, however, disclosed the fact that the visitation had been made and two more hives toppled over and the honey stolen. Kitchen and Keller got on the job early the next night and about 8:30 o'clock were rewarded with the sight of bruin lumbering toward the hives. Keller pumped six loads from a repeating rifle into him and Kitchen finished him off with a load of buckshot. William Temple, caretaker of a large herd of heifers in the North mountain, killed a 300-pound bear when he came upon the animal feeding upon the carcass of a heifer.

children. Salt Creek township will receive forty-eight percent. of these funds.

Another fund, the special school fund, from which the maintenance of schools is paid, will not be divided inasmuch as the entire township contracted for and built a high school building at Houston which is not paid for. The June distribution amounted to $2,200 for this school, and the court held that the entire amount should be used for this school. After this year, however, Pershing township will have a special school fund of its own.

The money which Pershing township will receive according to the court's decision follows:

Township fund—$294.94.

Road fund—$187.48.

School Bond fund—$220.84

Tuition fund—$591.20

Pershing township will have to borrow money to conduct its high school the coming year. The teachers' salaries are paid from the tuition fund which for the new township will belong to that unit. The high school recently erected at Houston will belong to Salt Creek township and the indebtedness of $5,800 on the new building will also be assumed by Salt Creek township.

The court ruled that the auditor should be mandated to issue warrants to McKain for the above named amounts. The court also ruled in favor of the county treasurer, holding that he had never been asked to issue warrants to the Pershing township trustee and that no demands had been made on him. The plaintiff is to pay the costs assessed against the treasurer, while the auditor is held responsible for his costs in the case.

MORE PORK PRODUCED PER ACRE BY HOGGING OFF CORN

In answer to the question, "Does hogging off corn pay?" practical farm demonstrations conducted by farmers over the state in cooperation with county agents and the department of agricultural extension at Purdue University have proved that more pork can be produced per acre of corn fed this way than in any other.

By hogging off corn, the labor and expense of harvesting and feeding it is saved, crib space is saved, the corn stalks are in better condition for next year's crop, and the corn is fed in the field where grown, thus returning a large portion of the plant food to the soil. The success of hogging off corn is evidenced by the agreement of farmers who have practiced this method of harvesting at least a part of their corn crop that it should be followed on every well managed corn and hog farm.

Hogs may be turned into corn any time after it has passed the dough stage and has begun to harden and dent. It has been found that immature corn is likely to cause the animals to scour badly as will also a sudden change in the feed to new corn. Success and profit in hogging off corn depends as much upon acclimating the hogs to the new corn gradually as upon any other management factor. A good way to do this is to throw a few stalks of the corn to the hogs as soon as it reaches the advanced milk stage, gradually increasing the amount until in 10 to 12 days, when the corn is well dented, the hogs are getting a full feed.

The number of hogs required per acre depends upon their size and the yield of corn. Enough hogs should be fed to clean up the area in 10 to 15 days. This means that 20 to 30 shoats weighing 125 pounds are required per acre of 40 to 50 bushel corn.

The use of a supplementary feed like soybeans increases the rate of gain and the total gain per acre and reduces the cost of production, according to farm demonstration results. However, if soybeans are not grown in the crop and no other home grown protein crop is available for grazing, it may be profitable to feed tankage or linseed oil meal in a self feeder.

MARSHALL COUNTY MEN MAKE ALFALFA TOUR

A successful township alfalfa tour was held recently in Union township, Marshall County by the township federation of farmers. The party started from Culver at one o'clock in the afternoon and before five o'clock, 11 farms had been visited.

The first stop was made at the farm of Ralph Osborn where the party was able to observe how one fifth timothy sown with alfalfa was keeping bluegrass out. On the farm of Theodore Kline, where the next stop was made, a field of alfalfa, which was ten years old, was as thick and hardy as when it had been seeded. It was planted from one of the northern grown varieties from Dakota and showed the value of having hardy seed for Indiana.

On Claude Newman's farm it was found that three excellent fields of alfalfa had been obtained in three successive years by seeding in April with a half bushel of oats sown for a nurse crop. This was the only farm that had made a decided success of spring planting, all others having seeded in August.

The benefits to be derived from acid phosphate on alfalfa were clearly shown on Glen Snap's farm where the crop was green and growing, while most of the fields in the neighborhood had stopped growing and turned yellow. It was found that where the farmers had top dressed their fields with manure and disked it in before seeding they had a good stand. Where no manure was used the stand was thin.

County Agricultural V. V. Clark has arranged for a county-wide alfalfa tour on August 14 to take in more fields under different conditions than were in Union Township. Men in that section of the state are planning on getting their seed directly from the northwest this year because of its hardness.

CASS COUNTY YOUNGSTERS HOLD SUCCESSFUL PICNIC

Between 350 and 400 people attended the Cass County boys and girls club picnic which was recently held at Logansport and from all indications, the day is one that will be long remembered in the minds of the youngsters and grown people who were there.

There were horse shoe pitching contests and wheelbarrow races for the boys while the girls attempted to outdo one another in driving nails and changing aprons. At 11:45 time was taken out in order to allow the boys and girls to eat the picnic dinner after which the club songs and yells were given.

In the afternoon, Dr. Ada E. Schweitzer of the state board of health and J. G. Collicott, state director of vocational education, addressed the boys and girls after which each township organization gave a stunt. Since the slogan of the picnic was "Something doing all day," there were no dull times recorded and enjoyed.

thusiasm was kept high throughout the program.

One feature of the picnic was that the boys and girls ran their own ice cream and pop stand and as a result cleared about $17.00 which was more than enough to pay for the expenses of the affair.

The money for the contest prizes was furnished by the chamber of commerce and the Better Farming Association. The boy and girl having the highest number of points in the contest are to receive a free trip of one week to the boys and girls club round up which will be held at Purdue University next winter.

UNIQUE HOMEKEEPING CLUB STARTED BY GOSHEN GIRLS

Seventeen enterprising girls of Goshen, under the leadership of Miss Helen Neligh, vocational home economics teacher, have originated a unique club with homekeeping as its project and named it the Q-H Club. Just what the Q-H stands for nobody but the girls know for the organization is one that discloses the meaning of the mysterious title to only those girls who have been admitted into membership.

The club was started by Miss Helen Neligh at the beginning of the summer and in reality is only a form of the boys' and girls' club. Homekeeping is the project that the girls have adopted and reports from mothers of the girls have it that daughters, who heretofore took no interest in the home, are exerting every effort to carry out the purpose of the club. They have gone into the work with a new enthusiasm and under the disguise of the title, Q-H, the task has been found fascinating.

At present the girls are planning a week's camping trip, the money for which they earned by selling popcorn on the streets of Goshen and taking one of the town's moving picture shows for one night. Committees have been appointed by the girls to care for the menus and general details about the camp and the work that each girl does will be credited toward her work in home keeping by the club.

VALUE OF TANKAGE PROVED BY FARMERS

Liberty, Ind.—Nathan Stanley, a farmer living near here, found that it cost $15.60 to produce 100 pounds of pork on a ration of ground barley and middlings, while John Stout, a neighbor, fed pigs about the same age and size the same ration with tankage added and produced pork for $12. per hundred.

The average daily gain of 96 hogs receiving no tankage was 1.2 pounds and it required 542 pounds of feed to make 100 pounds of gain. The barley and middlings each cost $57.75 per ton and the records were kept over a 22 day period.

Mr. Stout fed 33 head of hogs over the same period, but with tankage added and his other feed prices were the same as Mr. Stanley's. His hogs gained an averaged 1.7 pounds daily and consumed only 410 pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain.

Both men co-operated with County Agent M. A. Nye in keeping records of their feeding operations which were designed to find out whether or not it paid to feed tankage with 60 percent protein.

"Both men and many more men throughout the country are convinced that the feeding of tankage is a paying proposition, even at present prices," said the county agent in speaking of the demonstration.

GRIND BARLEY OR OATS FOR HOGS; USE TANKAGE

Many Indiana farmers are feeding new barley and oats to hogs now because of the scarcity and high price of corn. These feeds are excellent ones for growing shoats if they are properly prepared and combined with other feeds. They may be very expensive feeds, however, if they are not used rightly.

A few days ago I ran across a farmer in DeKalb county who was feeding shoats weighing 50 to 60 pounds whole barley and oats in a self-feeder on a bluegrass pasture. The pigs were poor and big belled, the kind that would stick half way through a hole in the fence instead of at the shoulders where the largest part of a pig's body should be.

The discontented little fellows were rooting the feed around trying to find something that would satisfy their appetites and body demands. They were trying their best to tell their owner that he ought to get that barley and oats ground, or at least soak them before asking them to eat; then to add a supplement such as tankage or fish meal. But he was either so heedless that he did not care to look out for his own profits or so dense that he could not understand what the pigs were trying to tell him.

Better results all around would have been secured by this farmer if he had also added a little corn or hominy feed to the ration as well as a supplement. Forty parts barley, 30 parts corn and 20 parts of oats, ground together, and 10 parts tankage added to the mixture, fed in a self-feeder would have made an excellent growing ration for his pigs. If no corn could be secured, 60 parts barley and 30 parts oats ground together and 10 parts tankage added (the mixture being self-fed) would have given fairly good results.

STOMACH WORMS CAUSE MUCH SHEEP SICKNESS

Stomach worms are responsible for a major part of the sickness among sheep at this season, was the statement of Dr. L. C. Kigin, Extension Veterinarian of Purdue University at a recent meeting of the veterinarians of northeastern Indiana at Rome City.

Breeding ewes or lambs that show signs of disease or even unthrifty condition should be given immediate attention and the local veterinarians called at once to diagnose the trouble. In spite of the fact that stomach worms are responsible for a large part of the sickness in sheep, there are other causes that are sometimes present and the treatment of one may be detrimental to the other. For this reason it is never advisable to attempt to treat a flock until the cause of the trouble is known. The accuracy of dosage and careful administration of medicine should never be overlooked.

Changing the flock from one pasture to another will do much toward reducing the parasite trouble. The prevention and treatment of disease in sheep will bring results just as it will in any other form of livestock. Above all things don't wait too long before calling for assistance, was the warning.

MANY HOG DISEASES CAUSED BY SUDDEN CHANGE OF FEED

A sudden change of feed from old to new grain is responsible for a great deal of the digestive trouble found in hogs at this time of the year, is the statement of Dr. L. C. Kigin, Extension Veterinarian of Purdue University. For this reason, farmers and stock raisers should be sure that animals whose feed is to be changed are accustomed to the changes gradually in order that no serious results may follow.

Quite frequently, the digestive disturbance is so slight that the owner of the herd fails to recognize any unusual condition. However, the way has been paved for a more serious trouble the direct cause of which can usually be traced to poor feeding methods. Germs must find a suitable soil on which to develop and when the resistance and the vitality of the hog is lowered from any cause, these germs begin their invasion and deadly work.

Of course, many herds escape these various diseases and disturbances, but Dr. Kigin says that it would be hard to estimate the number of herds that suffer each year in Indiana from the neglect of using better judgment in changing feed from old to new grain.

VALUE OF LIME AND MANURE SHOWN BY RANDOLPH FARMER

Two tons of limestone per acre applied by Jacob Huber, Randolph county farmer, at the suggestion of County Agent A. L. Hodgson, increased his wheat yield one and a half bushels to the acre this year. His chances for clover on the limed ground are twice as good as that on the unlimed area.

C. E. McKinney, a farmer living in Wayne township, the same county, has a striking illustration of the value of manure in increasing corn production. On badly worn land, prospects for the crop where manure has been applied are about sixty bushels to the acre while on the part of the field receiving no treatment, Mr. McKinney estimates he will not get over 15 bushels to the acre.

When And How to Cull Hens Discussed in Leaflet No. 107

In connection with the culling campaign that the poultry division of the Department of Agricultural Extension of Purdue University is to conduct over the state during the months of August and September, the division has issued Leaflet No. 107, "When and How to Cull Hens".

By studying the high and the low producing type of hen, poultrymen have found certain physical conditions which will enable any poultry raiser to distinguish between the long distance layers and the short time layer without the use of a trap nest. Each hen leaves its record behind and that record is easily read if the hens are examined at the right season of the year.

A complete discussion of these indications of high production ability are contained in the leaflet and it is designed to enable every poultry raiser and farmer to successfully cull his flock. The leaflet will be distributed by the county agricultural agents at the culling demonstration. It may also be obtained on request to the university.

FARMERS VIEWPOINT

Farmers must combine to eliminate profiteering.

This was the declaration of W. H. Hickman, vice-president of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations, in describing the purpose of a meeting to plan the collection of the $200,000, Farmers Fund. The present agitation against the High Cost of Living, he says, shows the importance of agricultural organization.

"The consumers are right in their demand that the cost of living should be reduced," declared Mr. Hickman. "We are with them. In our view the profiteer is to blame. The situation just now is the gravest crisis the farmers have ever faced. For this reason we are starting today a campaign to raise $200,000, with which to fight to protect the farmer's interests. It is, in fact a fight fund."

"The farmers in a crisis like this are the first to be affected. The decline of $1.50 on hogs at the local market in two days and 8½ cents on a bushel of corn is not an indication of the reduction of the high cost of living, but merely apprehension that shipment may be arrested by a strike. This means thousands of dollars loss to the farmers."

"While they are trying to force down the prices of food, there is little being done to force down prices of binders and other farm machinery necessary to produce this food. What works one way should work another way just as well. We are told the price of shoes and clothing is to increase 100 per cent, and the farm machinery dealers tell us to look for another increase. There is more than one side to this big question, and all the farmers are looking forward to is a square deal in this matter."

"Our idea now," said Mr. Hickman, "is to let the public know that we are with it in the fight against profiteering, and serve notice that we intend to stand for our rights."

Mrs. Ed McPike, of Sparksville, and daughter, Grethel, spent Saturday in this city the guest of Mrs. George Heins, enroute to Cincinnati.

HAMILTON FARMERS POOL THEIR FERTILIZER ORDERS

Members of the Hamilton county farmers' association are getting together on the fertilizer ordering this year. The men are going by townships, making up their orders now, buying from local dealers, paying cash and unloading direct from the ear. They are allowing the dealer a liberal commission and expect to save several thousand dollars on fertilizer orders throughout the county.

A large number of people enjoyed the delightful program which was rendered by Brinklow's jazz band at Shields park Sunday afternoon. The concerts have become very popular and attract many local people to the grounds each Sunday afternoon.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

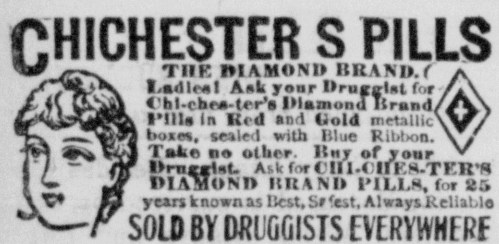

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

Simple Home Remedy Advised For Rose And Hay Fever

Anyone Can Make a Pint For Trifling Sum and Used In Time May Prevent Annual Attack

"No matter how severe your yearly attack be, No matter how distressing or humiliating—Its intensity can be reduced to a harmless, mildness."

says a Kentucky druggist who believes from what he has seen that this simple home made remedy is a most important discovery.

He has seen the most severe and apparently unconquerable cases reduced to what might be called a mild cold in twenty-four hours.

In many cases where the patient started treatment a week or ten days before the expected attack the unwelcome yearly visitor failed to appear with anything like its usual intensity.

People who want to try this new treatment can make a pint in a few minutes.

Four ounce of Mentholized Arcline into a pint bottle then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled. Gargle daily as directed and sniff or spray the nostrils twice daily.

That's all there is to the treatment which so many sufferers have found to be a true friend.

Mentholized Arcline in one ounce vials is dispensed by all the better pharmacies.

FASCINATING TEETH

How Every Woman Can Quickly Charm Her Friends With Lovely Teeth, Clean, White and Brilliant

If you want the cleanest of white teeth and healthy gums free from disease, an easy and quick way to get both is to use a tooth paste so effective and perfect that astonishing results usually come in a week's time.

And the cost is so little. Just go to any drug or department store, and get a large tube of SENRECO TOOTH PASTE for 35 cents.

Not only will it make your teeth clean and white, but it will at once remove any filmy coating, help to check the ravages of Pyorrhea and banish acidity in the mouth.

It is used by thousands of dentists and its sale has been remarkable. When you visit your dentist, which you should do at least twice a year, ask him about SENRECO. It's a most delightful and refreshing tooth paste.

BILIOUSNESS Caused by Acid-Stomach

If people who are bilious are treated according to local symptoms they seldom get very much better. Whatever relief is obtained is usually temporary. Trace biliousness to its source and remove the cause and the chances are that the patient will remain strong and healthy.

Doctors say that more than 70 non-organic diseases can be traced to an Acid-Stomach. Biliousness is one of them. Indigestion, heartburn, belching, sour stomach, bloating and gas are other signs of acid-stomach. EATONIC, the marvelous modern stomach remedy, brings quick relief from these stomach miseries which lead to a long train of ailments that make life miserable if not corrected.

EATONIC literally absorbs and carries away the excess acid. Makes the stomach strong, cool and comfortable. Helps digestion; improves the appetite and you then get full strength from your food. Thousands say that EATONIC is the most effective stomach remedy in the world. It is the help YOU need. Try it on our money-back-if-not-satisfied guarantee. At all druggists. Only 50c for a big box.

Isabel's uneasiness about her husband's health—sometimes reflected in her letters to George during the winter that followed—had not been alleviated when the accredited Senior returned for his next summer vacation, and she confided to him in his room, soon after his arrival, that "something" the doctor had said to her lately had made her more uneasy than ever.

"Doctor Rainey says we ought to get him away."

"Well, let's do it, then."

"He won't go."

"He's a man awfully set in his ways; that's true," said George. "I don't think there's anything much the matter with him, though. Have you seen Lucy lately? How is she?"

"She looks—pretty!" said Isabel. "I suppose she wrote you that you've moved?"

"Yes; I've got her address. She said they were building."

"They did. It's all finished, and they've been in it a month. It's small, but oh, such a pretty little house!"

"Well, that's fortunate," George said. "One thing I've always felt they didn't know a great deal about is architecture."

"Don't they?" asked Isabel, surprised. "Anyhow, their house is charming. It's way out beyond the end of Amberson boulevard; it's quite near that big white house with a gray-green roof somebody built out there a year or so ago. I suppose you'll be driving out to see Lucy tomorrow."

"I thought—" George hesitated. "I thought perhaps I'd go after dinner this evening."

At this his mother laughed, not astonished. "It was only my feeble joke about 'tomorrow,' George! I was pretty sure you couldn't wait that long. Did Lucy write you about the factory?"

"No. What factory?"

"The automobile shops. This spring they've finished eight automobiles and sold them all, and they've got twelve more almost finished, and they're sold already! Eugene is so gay over it! They're very interesting to look at; behind the driver's seat there's a sort of box where four people can sit, with a step and a little door in the rear, and—"

"I know all about it," said George. "I've seen any number like that, east. You can see all you want of 'em if you stand on Fifth avenue half an hour any afternoon. I've seen half a dozen go by almost at the same time—within a few minutes, anyhow; and of course electric hansom are a common sight there any day. I hired one myself the last time I was there. How fast do Mr. Morgan's machines go?"

"Much too fast! It's very exhilarating—but rather frightening; and they do make a fearful uproar. He says, though, he thinks he sees a way to get around the noisiness in time."

"I don't mind the noise," said George. "Give me a horse for mine, though, any day. I must get up a race with one of these things; Pendergast'll leave it one mile behind in a two-mile run. How's grandfather?"

"He looks well, but he complains sometimes of his heart."

George had taken off his coat. "I don't like to hint to a lady," he said, "but I do want to dress before dinner."

"Don't be long; I've got to do a lot of looking at you, dear!" She kissed him and ran away, singing.

But his Aunt Fanny was not so fond; and at the dinner table there came a spark of liveliness into her eyes when George patronizingly asked her what was the news in her own "particular line of sport."

"Well, what's the gossip? You usually hear pretty much everything that goes on around the nooks and crannies in this town, I hear. What's the last from the gossips' corner, auntie?"

Fanny dropped her eyes, but a movement of her lower lip betokened a tendency to laugh as she replied. "There hasn't been much gossip lately except the report that Lucy Morgan and Fred Kinney are engaged—and that's quite old by this time."

There was a clatter upon George's plate. "What—what do you think you're talking about?" he gasped.

Miss Fanny looked up innocently. "About the report of Lucy Morgan's engagement to Fred Kinney."

George turned dumbly to his mother and Isabel shook her head reassuringly. "People are always starting rumors," she said. "I haven't paid any attention to this one."

"But you—you've heard it?" he stammered.

"Oh, one hears all sorts of nonsense, dear. I haven't the slightest idea that it's true."

"Then you have heard it?"

George turned pale.

"Eat your dinner, George," his aunt said sweetly. "Food will do you good. I didn't say I knew this rumor was true. I only said I'd heard it."

"Fanny, you're a hard-hearted creature," Isabel said gently. "You really are. Don't pay any attention to her, George. Fred Kinney's only a clerk in his uncle's hardware place; he couldn't marry for ages—even if anybody would accept him!"

George breathed tumultuously. "I don't care anything about 'ages'! What's that got to do with it?" he said, his thoughts appearing to be somewhat disconnected. "Ages, don't mean anything! I only want to know—I want to know—I want—" He stopped.

"You must finish your dinner, dear," his mother urged. "Don't—"

"I have finished. I've eaten all I want. I don't want any more than I wanted. I don't want—I—" He rose, still incoherent. "I prefer—I want—please excuse me!"

He left the room, and a moment later the screens outside the open front door were heard to slam.

"Fanny! You shouldn't—"

"Isabel, don't reproach me. He did have plenty of dinner, and I only told the truth: everybody has been saying—"

"We don't actually know there isn't," Miss Fanny insisted, giggling. "We've never asked Lucy."

"I wouldn't ask her anything so absurd!"

"George would," George's father remarked. "That's what he's gone to do."

Mr. Minafer was not mistaken; that was what his son had gone to do. Lucy and her father were just rising from their dinner table when the stirred youth arrived at the front door of the new house. It was a cottage, however, rather than a house; and Lucy had taken a free hand with the architect, achieving results in white and green outside and white and blue inside to such effect of youth and daintiness that her father complained of "too much springtime!" The whole place, including his own bedroom, was a young damsel's boudoir, he said, so that nowhere could he smoke a cigar without feeling like a ruffian. However, he was smoking when George arrived, and he encouraged George to join him in the pastime, but the caller, whose air was both tense and preoccupied, declined with something like agitation.

"I never smoke—that is, I'm seldom—I mean, no, thanks," he said. "I mean not at all. I'd rather not."

"Aren't you well, George?" Eugene asked, looking at him in perplexity. "Have you been overworking at college? You do look rather pale—"

"I don't work," said George. "I mean I don't work. I think, but I don't work. I only work at the end of the term. There isn't much to do."

Eugene's perplexity was little decreased, and a tinkle of the doorbell afforded him obvious relief. "It's my foreman," he said, looking at his watch. "I'll take him out in the yard to talk. This is no place for a foreman." And he departed, leaving the "living room" to Lucy and George.

"What's wrong, George?" she asked softly.

"What do you mean? What's wrong? What makes you think anything's 'wrong' with me?"

"You do look pale, as papa said, and it seemed to me that the way you talked sounded—well, a little confused."

"See here!" George stepped close to her. "Are you glad to see me?" "You needn't be so fierce about it!" Lucy protested, laughing at his dramatic intensity. "Of course I am! Do tell me what's the matter with you, George!"

"I will!" he exclaimed. "I was a boy when I saw you last. I see that now, though I didn't then. Well, I'm not a boy any longer. I'm a man, and a man has a right to demand a totally different treatment."

"I don't seem to be able to understand you at all, George. Why shouldn't a boy be treated just as well as a man?"

George seemed to find himself at a loss. "Why shouldn't? Well, he shouldn't, because a man has a right to certain explanations."

"What in the world do you want me to explain?"

"Your conduct with Fred Kinney!" George shouted.

Lucy uttered a sudden cry of laughter; she was delighted. "It's been awful!" she said. "I don't know that I ever heard of worse misbehavior! Papa and I have been twice to dinner with his family, and I've been three times to church with Fred—and once to the circus! I don't know when they'll be here to arrest me!"

"Stop that!" George commanded fiercely. "I want to know just one thing, and I mean to know it, too!"

"Whether I enjoyed the circus?"

"I want to know if you're engaged to him!"

"No!" she cried, and lifting her face close to his for the shortest instant possible, she gave him a look half merry, half defiant, but all fond. It was an adorable look.

"Lucy!" he said huskily.

But she turned quickly from him, and ran to the other end of the room.

He followed awkwardly, stammering: "Lucy, I want—I want to ask you."

"But we mustn't let—" she faltered; then went on tremulously. "George, we've got on so well together we won't let this make a difference between us, will we?" And she joined in his laughter.

"It will all depend on what you tell me the night before I go away. You agree we're going to settle things then, don't you, Lucy?"

"I don't promise."

"Yes, you do! Don't you?"

"Well—"

Coming Events
Cast Their Shadows

Prepare Now to Withstand the Crisis.

Do not anticipate with a shuddering dread the beautiful event of childbirth. You can avoid discomfort during the period and strain at the crisis by preparing your system and putting yourself in splendid condition to meet the time.

For just this purpose women all over the land, in every walk of life, have used for over half a century the time-honored and famous remedy, Mother's Friend. It is prepared to give the mother-to-be that direct help she needs. The muscles, nerves, tendons and cords are made and kept soft and elastic. Thus strain is avoided, and as a result nervousness, nausea, bearing-down and stretching pains are avoided. The abdominal muscles expand easily and gently when baby is born. Naturally, pain is less and the hours are fewer. The system is prepared and the crisis is one of much less danger.

Write the Bradfield Regulator Company, Dept. M, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their helpful Motherhood Book, and obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend from the drugist today. It is just as standard as anything you can think of. And remember, there is nothing to take the place of MOTHER'S FRIEND.

Be Sure to Say
"Threaded Rubber"

If everybody said "Threaded Rubber Insulation" when they bought batteries and saw to it that "Threaded Rubber" was what they got there would be a lot less battery grief.

—Far fewer jobs of re-insulation that is so often necessary to get full life out of the plates of an ordinary battery.

—Assurance of longer battery life.

If your battery is getting to the point where it shows signs of quitting it will pay you to get on the track of Threaded Rubber. Come in any time and have a talk about batteries.

Great Strides Shown in Report of Shipping Board.

REACH ALL PARTS OF WORLD

Glories of Former Days When Stars and Stripes Snapped From Mastheads in Every Port of the World Are Being Revived—Establish 62 Regular Cargo Liner Services in Trade Routes Opened Within Six Months.

The vast expansion of the American merchant marine in the past two years is revealed by figures issued by the United States shipping board. Exclusive of more than 2,500,000 tons of shipping still in war service, the board now employs 729 ships of 4,288,971 tons in general commerce.

The glories of the past, when the Stars and Stripes snapped from mastheads in every port of the world, are being revived. The board has established and now has under operation 62 regular cargo liner services in trade routes which have been opened in the past six months, and there are 174 steamships of 1,351,305 deadweight tons employed in the trade routes which have been given regular cargo liner service. The remainder of the commerce fleet is engaged in general cargo and tramp service. Additional trade routes are soon to be opened and more ships will be utilized as they are released from war service, and as new ships are delivered.

Reach Every Quarter.

Every quarter of the globe is now reached by regular cargo liner services. The cargo liner service to the Argentine and Uruguay includes 16 steamships of from 5,000 to 9,600 deadweight tons sailing weekly from New York to the Argentine; five of from 4,300 to 9,000 tons from Boston to the Argentine; two of 5,075 and 6,200 tons from Mobile, Ala., to the Argentine; four of 5,075 tons from New Orleans to the Argentine; four of from 7,500 to 9,000 tons from Wilmington, Del., to the Argentine; four of from 7,500 to 9,000 tons from Charleston, S. C., to the Argentine; four of from 7,500 to 9,000 tons from Savannah to the Argentine; four of from 7,500 to 9,000 tons from Brunswick, Ga., to the Argentine; and four of from 7,500 to 9,000 tons from Jacksonville, Fla., to the Argentine. All of these ships call at Montevideo, Buenos Aires, La Plata and Rosario. They carry every imaginable manufacture.

In addition to this there is now a splendid Brazil service with nine big ships leaving New York on a ten-day schedule for mid-Brazil, and two others leaving New York for north Brazil every six weeks. The Brazil service also includes ships from New Orleans to Rio and Santos, from Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick, Ga., and Jacksonville.

The cargo liner service to the west coast of South America, ranging from Guayaquil to Valparaiso, comprises five large ships from New York on fortnightly sailings to Valparaiso and a steamship from New Orleans on a bi-monthly sailing to the same port.

The board advertises two ships from New York to Egypt on monthly sailings, five from New York to the Dutch West Indies on monthly sailings, two from New York to Bombay and other Indian ports on bi-monthly sailings, and three to Valparaiso, Valencia, Cadiz and Seville on monthly sailings. One ship sails for the new free port of Danzig every month, and there is now a cargo liner service to Constantinople from New York with two ships sailing every six weeks.

Other Sailings.

Other services listed by the board include New York to West Africa, three ships on monthly sailings; New York to South Africa, two ships on bi-monthly sailings; New York to Australia and New Zealand, three ships on monthly sailings; New York to China and Japan, three ships on a six-weeks' schedule, and 15 ships from San Francisco to China and Japan and sailing every ten days.

In addition there are new services from San Francisco to Eastern ports and Europe; from New York to Genoa; from New York to Grecian ports; from New York to London, six of the largest ships on fortnightly sailings; Philadelphia to London; Baltimore to London; Norfolk, Va., to London; New York to Liverpool, and Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk and Galveston, Tex., to Liverpool; New York to Glasgow; New York to Havre; New York to Bordeaux; Boston to Bordeaux and Baltimore to Bordeaux; New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore to Antwerp; New York and Philadelphia to Rotterdam; New York to Copenhagen and Gothenburg, and finally an extensive cargo liner service to West Indian ports.

Mrs. B. M. Megel and two daughters, who have been spending several weeks with relatives in this city and Hayden, left this morning for their home in St. Louis. They were accompanied by Miss Alvina Bensman, of Indianapolis.
